

CROSS AWARDED CAPT. WINDHAM

Former El Paso Man Honored for Service in Argonne.

Capt. Warren M. Windham, 191st infantry, who formerly was assigned agent for the E. P. & S. W. system in El Paso, has been awarded the French cross de guerre for bravery in supplying ammunition to the front during the battle in Argonne forest in October, 1918. This fact was conveyed to friends of Capt. Windham in El Paso by Mrs. Windham who has been in California during the absence of her husband.

New At Rest, France.

Capt. Windham is now transportation officer at the port of embarkation, France. He was agent for the E. P. & S. W. system at Douglas, Ariz., before coming to El Paso in the fall of 1916.

During the Argonne fighting he was senior supply officer of the 141st regiment. This regiment, with its entire division, has since been returned to the United States and will soon be demobilized.

May Join Husband.
Mrs. Windham is now arranging for her passage to France if her husband must remain there much longer. Infinite reports one way or the other.

PROVIDES FUND DANIELS ASKED

Senate Committee Recommends $35,000,000 for Naval Aviation.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—With a few dissenting votes, the senate naval committee today decided to recommend an increase in the naval aviation fund for 1920 from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000, as requested by secretary Daniels.

A subcommittee of the military committee voted to recommend an increase for army aviation from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000.

It has not been decided if he is to return soon, she will meet him in New York and return with him to Long Beach, Calif., to spend the rest of the summer. They spent their summer at Long Beach for four or five years prior to the war.

DISCHARGED FROM ARMY.
Albert Wilson has received his discharge from photographic division, signal corps, U. S. A., at Washington, D. C., according to a wire received Friday by his mother, Mrs. J. M. Wilson, 2015 Waco street, El Paso. Wilson's mother that he was ill at present and would make the trip to El Paso as soon as he was able to travel.

Sixty-five percent of the Cuban women can wear only dresses of the "stout" class.

SEPPARD GIVES LEAGUE SUPPORT

Objection to Its War Making Power Groundless, Declares Texan.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—Supporting the league of nations, senator Seppard, Democrat, of Texas, told the senate today that objection to any war making power of the league was entirely groundless. The covenant only pledges the member nations to cooperate in repelling invasion, he said, "but confers no powers on the league" in that regard.

Makes War Improbable.
"Viewing the covenant as a whole," said the Texas senator, "it may well be characterized as the most effective instrument for the prevention of war the heart and brain of man have yet produced. It is based on a clear recognition of the fact that we have not yet reached that state where war may be entirely suppressed. It makes war remote and improbable, however, by organizing the public opinion and the moral force of civilization in one great international unit, pledged to the peaceful settlement of international controversies."

The covenant is the mightiest advance toward a higher existence and a better day since the cry of the angels in the skies of Bethlehem, for peace on earth, good will to men."

Knox Revolution May Die.
There were growing indications today that opposition to the league of nations might abandon all efforts to force a test vote on the subject in the senate before the German act on the peace treaty. Hope of bringing a roll call on the Knox resolution virtually has been abandoned and some leaders thought it might be permitted to die without even coming formally before the senate for action.

It was designed to give notice of opposition to the league of nations covenant along with the peace treaty and in the general opinion it will cease to serve its purpose after Germany has accepted the treaty.

CHAPLAIN AXTON GIVEN MEDAL FOR HIS WELFARE SERVICE

Major John T. Axton, chaplain, United States army, has been awarded the distinguished service medal for "exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service in organizing and administering the welfare of the troops in the port of embarkation, Hoboken, N. J., and New York city, while on duty with the 24th division in many departments of social uplift."

HOSTESS WILL BE AT KHAKI CLUB TO RECEIVE GUESTS

At a meeting of the W. C. C. S. executive board Thursday afternoon at the Khaki club it was decided to arrange for a hostess at the Khaki club, to be there permanently, to receive the soldiers and their friends. She will work with Miss Miriam Cole, now director of girls work.

Plans were made to fit up Khaki club number two at the chamber of commerce.

Reports were read on the Khaki club work which is being done at San Elmarie, Tabernash and Fort Hancock.

WILSON FACES A PROBLEM: WILL HE DROP BURLESON?

removed in these times for a reason to regenerate labor unions.

On the other hand the progressive elements who count themselves champions of labor and who agree with the substance of president Wilson's last message to congress, chafed from Paris, that labor is at the very forefront of the world situation today, believe the president must make his deeds square with his words and sever connections with any member of his cabinet who does not uphold his view.

Bryan and Garrison Recalled.
William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, left the cabinet because of a difference of opinion between the president and himself on a financial administration policy with respect to Germany, while Lindsey M. Garrison resigned as secretary of war because of a disagreement on military policy. The resignations of Messrs. McElwain, Gregory and McAdoo were for personal reasons.

There was a time, too, when secretary Baker offered to resign if he were embroiled in the president in any way, but Mr. Wilson steadfastly refused to accept his resignation. On the contrary he wrote Mr. Baker a letter praising him highly and deploring the criticism of him.

If the president were to take cognizance of the Atlantic City resolutions and ask for Mr. Burleson's resignation it would be the first case of its kind in the cabinet, though the president has removed several officials below cabinet rank.

Thus far the president has always stood firmly by members of his administration against all attacks on the ground that it was a personal matter upon him and an effort to discredit his administration. He has refused to permit anybody to be "the goat."

The demand for the removal of postmaster general Burleson, however, is different from any other case ever presented to the president. For Mr. Wilson's own political family—the conspicuous members of the Democratic national committee—have made it plain to him by letter and otherwise that the postmaster general is an insuperable obstacle to the political success of the Democratic party on the ground that he has alienated hundreds of thousands of voters.

Causes of Complaint.
Criticism of the administration of the postoffice department and the telephone and telegraph lines has been at the bottom of the movement against the postmaster general, though he himself has attributed it to the alleged prejudice of newspapers and periodicals in connection with attitude on second class mail rates.

In administration quarters nothing is said nowadays about the Burleson situation, but there is an air of expectancy noticeable which is construed as meaning that on the return of president Wilson serious consideration will be given to the entire question of personnel in the cabinet.

Some members of the cabinet are said to be anxious to retire to private life. They feel that they have served Mr. Wilson throughout six years and were in duty bound to continue during the war, even felt that it would seem like deserting the president if they resigned just when the armistice came and Mr. Wilson set sail for Europe.

On his return, however, with the attention of the executive himself turned once more to domestic politics there would be less hesitation about leaving the cabinet.

So changes may be expected, and that which would occasion least surprise would be the voluntary resignation of the postmaster general himself.—(Copyright, 1919, by the New York Times.)
